

ATI Toolkit

Terms of Use

By accessing the ATI Toolkit and using the tools within you agree to the following terms of use.

The ATI Toolkit, its calculations and its data are owned by the Aerospace Technology Institute ("ATI"). Results obtained by using the ATI Toolkit are intended for individuals and organisations contributing to the growth of the UK aerospace sector.

You are provided access to the ATI Toolkit on the following basis:

- Login details – Your login details are for your sole use and must not be shared with anyone else. If another person within your organisation requires access, please direct them to the ATI web site where they may also register.
- Acceptable uses of the data generated by the ATI Toolkit are:
 - For legitimate business purposes relating to your research and/or work contributing to the growth of the UK aerospace sector
 - When substantiating claims made in proposals for funding that are submitted to the assessment review process of the ATI, Innovate UK and the Department for Business & Trade (DBT)
 - When releasing information on ATI-funded projects, in accordance with the project's contractual agreement
- Other uses of the data generated by the ATI Toolkit can be approved on a case-by-case basis.
- Fair use – The ATI will monitor access to the ATI Toolkit to ensure fair use. If there is excessive use or an abnormal usage pattern, the ATI may contact you to clarify why the ATI Toolkit is being used in that way. Misuse of the ATI Toolkit may result in access being withdrawn without notice.

The ATI will store and process certain data, please refer to the ATI Toolkit data protection and handling statement for information. The ATI reserves the right to withdraw access to the ATI Toolkit at any time. If you have been given login details for the ATI Toolkit by anyone, please log out now and email the ATI (at toolkit@ati.org.uk) with information about where the login details originated.

ATI has made every effort to ensure the reliability of the views and recommendations expressed in the Toolkit data and that the data is accurate as of the date of its publication. It does not guarantee or warrant the accuracy, reliability, completeness or currency of the information in the Toolkit nor its usefulness in achieving any purpose. ATI will not be liable for any loss, damage, cost or expense incurred or arising by reason of any person using or relying on information in the ATI Toolkit.

All other rights are reserved. The ATI reserves the right to restrict access to any functionality or material on the ATI Toolkit to any party and organisation in breach of these terms and advise the ATI's board of directors of the breach.